Congratulations to Patrick Shepherd

Amanda McMahon congratulates Patrick Shepherd

Congratulations to Patrick Shepherd who has recently achieved his graduate engineer status. Paddy received his official confirmation from Teesside University on 26th June that he has achieved a Bachelor of Engineering in Mechanical with First Class Honours.

After starting with K Home International Ltd as an Apprentice Paddy has been working in the Mechanical department, and wanted to further with his career by studying a Degree in Mechanical Engineering at Teesside University on day release basis over a 4 year period.

Amanda McMahon, Manager of Engineer, commented on Patrick's achievement "We are delighted that Paddy has passed with first class honours. He started at K Home as an Apprentice and has developed over the years through hard work and dedication, he should be proud of what he has achieved. He will be attending his graduation ceremony on 17th July"

Paddy added "I'm over the moon to be graduating from Teesside University with First Class Honours; when I started my degree it was always the result I aspired to achieve, and that has been made a reality thanks to hard work and the support of everyone here at K Home. My deepest thanks go to both past and present employees for their time, knowledge and support; and to K Home as a company for putting their trust in me 4 years ago. University has been a long & challenging experience but an enjoyable one and I'm now looking forward to what the future holds."
